

Ifs and buts

By Skye Palmer-Jones

No ifs or buts; just stay at home,
Unless you're Boris Johnson's gnome.
But if your name is Dominic,
And if you feel a little sick,
By all means then just break those rules,
If you think we're all such fools,
If you think we cannot see
Naught but lies and mediocrity;
If we see, but what to do?
But if we can't depose the fools,
Who make and break and bend the rules;
But rules they make just make no sense
If vague and late; I take offence.

If I am anything like you -
It's my allotment gets me through.
